

CANTON, OHIO, AUGUST 29, 1895.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

For Christ and the Church, the Motto of Stark County Delegates.

AND CANTON '96.

The Rallying Cry—The Convention Enthusiastically Opened—Some Pertinacious Speeches Thursday Afternoon and Evening—Reception and Social—Several Hundred Delegates Present.

The Christian Endeavorers seem to have practically taken the town. All over the city bright faced young delegates with fluttering green badges are to be found and it is estimated that at least five hundred earnest Christian workers from outside are here. The county convention opened Thursday afternoon auspiciously with a short praise service conducted by Miss Luella Landrock, of Canal Fulton. This service sufficed to inspire the delegates and start the convention off in a happy mood. Charles Seaman, president of the city union, then delivered a royal address of welcome, which was feelingly responded to by Rev. F. M. Cori, of Alliance, secretary of the county union.

Following this came the Junior rally in charge of Miss Mabel Nunemaker, of Louisville. This consisted of songs, responsive readings and a Bible drill by the Massillon Junior's in charge of C. B. Heckman. The drill was admirably executed and reflects great credit on Mr. Heckman. The afternoon session closed with committee conferences.

At the evening session fully six hundred people were present. The meeting opened with a praise and prayer service conducted by Ralph Weaver, of Canton, after which Rev.
John Herron, of Massillon, delivered an eloquent address on the "Stark County En-deavorer's Great Need." Rev. Herron said the endeavorers'

FIRST NEED WAS COMMON SENSE.
Then in order he gave good principals, industry, intimate knowledge of the Bible, entire consecration and a holy spirit of service. The speaker said the greatest need of the endeavorer was to be filled with the holy spirit. Rev. Herron is a very pleasant speaker and greatly interested his audience.

After singing by the congregation, Mr.
Charles B. Heckman, of Massillon, spoke in a conversational style on the subject, "Missionary Extension in Stark County." The speaker urged that special work be done in Stark county and presented statistics to show that while in this country church membership was increasing, church attendance was relatively decreasing.

Mr. Heckman made many good points and his remarks were attentively listened to.
After another song by the congregation the following committee on nominations was appointed: Ralph Weaver and Martha Bomberger, Canton; Rev. A. E. Baichly, Canal Fulton; Dr. Evans, Alliance, and S. R. Bachel, Massillon.

The meeting was then turned over into the hands of the social committee of the city union, who gave what they termed

A MODEL SOCIAL.
This consisted of conversation, introductions and the following excellent program in which all the performers were heartily applauded for their good work:

Guitar and piano duet.....
.....Mr. Eckis and Miss Burns Vocal solo.....Miss Hattie Cum Piano solo.....Prof. Schilling Enphonic solo.....Mr. William Strasser After the program refreshments were served, and the meeting adjourned.

THE MORNING SESSION.
The morning session of the convention opened at 9 a. m. with a sunrise meeting in charge of Welcome T. Blue. A large crowd was present and the meeting was profitable to all who attended.

The regular morning session opened with a praise and prayer service conducted by Grace L. Nash, of New Baltimore. A splendid program was then read on "How to Secure the Aid of the Press," by Editor J. P. Jockey, of the Canal Fulton Signal. This number was one of the best and brought up many good points.
The business meeting opened promptly at 9:30 a. m. The roll call of societies was interesting as well as instructive, showing great gains in membership.

Dr. J. B. Shank, of the extension committee made an interesting report.
County superintendent, Mabel Nunemaker, reported sixteen Junior societies in the county with a membership of 500.

Secretary F. M. Cori, made his report as follows: Number of societies in the county, 47; membership, 1,482; amount given to missions, $431.26; amount for all enterprises, a total of $1,221.17. The convention has representatives of 23 denominations.

On account of the lateness of the day the election of officers was postponed till the afternoon at 1:30 p. m. The proposed constitution was adopted with the exception of Article 14; and at 12:15 the convention took a recess.

OFFICERS ELECTED.
The afternoon session began with a song and prayer service. Business was then resumed by the convention and the following officers elected: President, R. E. Leighton, of Massillon, was re-elected; Frank Demming, of Alliance, secretary; E. R. Held, of Canal Fulton, treasurer. According to the newly adopted constitution the first and second vice-presidents will be chosen by the executive committee.

At the time of going to press new committees were being appointed for the ensuing year.
Convention Cullings.
The decorations of the church, combined with the services, make an inspiring union.

"Canton, '96" is the rallying cry of the Canton hosts. They are now showing in part what they will do in '96.

Rev. W. F. McCauley, president of the state union, is present, and gives inspiration to the meeting.

C. E. in green and yellow are everywhere predominating, and "For Christ and the Church," is a motto worn by every delegate.

Prof. Stump, of Alliance, is taking in the convention.

HIGH PRICED TREES.

A Navarre Street Woman Sues For $1,000 Damages—Other Court News.

Annie Burkhardt has brought suit in common pleas court against the Central Union Telephone company for $1,000. She claims she was damaged to that amount by having limbs cut off of shade trees and a large pole placed in front of her premises on Navarre street, west of the city. Nat C., and J. S. McLean are the attorneys.

WANTS AN INJUNCTION.

Maggie J. Jackman, by attorney Nat C. Mc-Lean, has filed a petition in common pleas court asking to have John N., and Mary B.
Lock, Mary and Adeline Engel, enjoined from disposing or incurring certain real estate in Canton until the final hearing in a case of judgment, which the above plaintiff has against the said defendants.

A NEW SHOP.

Mr. Dueber Thinks of Building a New Factory For His Bicycle Work.

John C. Dueber is having special plans drawn for a new building, which he intends erecting early in the fall for his bicycle manufacture. A well known Canton architect is now preparing specifications for the building, which will be quite extensive, as Mr. Dueber intends to run a first-class bicycle establishment.

The building will be located in the rear of the present buildings, and it is expected, will be thoroughly equipped for the manufacture of bicycles before winter, when work on the bicycles will be commenced and first-class wheels turned out.

The details of construction are not yet settled upon, but a shop conforming in design and material to the watch factory works will probably be erected.

THIRD IN THE STATE.

Canton Post G. A. R. Now Has Over Four Hundred Members and Ranks Third.

The adjutant of Canton Post, No. 25, G. A. R., has a letter from the assistant adjutant general enclosing a tabulated statement of the numerical strength of a few of the leading posts of this department, as based on the returns of December 31, 1894, and June 30, 1895.

The following list shows the standing and location of No. 25, and the posts which ranked this post on December 31, 1894.

No. 12, Buckey, Akron, 571; No. 23, Old Guard, Dayton, 506; No. 15, Forsythe, Toledo, 473; No. 1, J. C. McCoy, Columbus, 404; No.
29, Todd, Youngstown, 395; No. 13, George H.
Thomas, Cincinnati, 384; No. 25, Canton, Canton, 331.

The reports of June 30, 1895, show the standing of the same posts as follows:

No. 12, 556; No. 13, 407; No. 23, 514; No.
15, 338; No. 1, 275; No. 141, 383; No. 29, 396; No. 25, 401.

It will be seen that Canton Post No. 25, in six months advanced from eighth to fourth place. If the count were made now, the post would be found in third place, as there has been a gain of eighteen since June 30. The next report will show only two posts ahead of the Canton Post: Old Guard and Buckley.

The post has the National Soldiers Home with its seven thousand inmates to draw on, and Akron has only one Post.

EXEUNT GRAND LODGE.

Sons of St. George Conclude

A GRAND BANQUET

Winds Up the Week's Festivities—A Royal Feast and a Jolly Good Time at the Hurford-Visitors well Pleased With Canton—Next Convention Goes to Toledo.

The Sons of St. George concluded their annual state convention in this city Thursday afternoon, and in the evening topped the whole affair off with a grand banquet at the Hurford house. At the afternoon session of the convention all reports were handed in and the rest of the amendments to the constitution considered. The convention then decided to go to Toledo next year and adjournment was then taken.

The banquet at the Hurford opened at 10 o'clock and closed as the hands on the dial of the town clock pointed to three. It was given by Montgomery lodge of this city in honor of the visiting officers and representatives. Plates were laid for a hundred and every seat was occupied. After an invocation for the blessing of God upon the feast to be partaken of, by Rev. E. V. Shayler of Columbus, the guests became seated and for an hour and a half discussed the following

Mock Turtle Soup. Celery.
Pickles. Claret Wine.

Pears.

S. W. Smith, president of the Montgomery lodge, officiated as toast master and until adjournment there was a continual round of eloquence and songs.

Mayor Rice made quite a hit in his response to the toast, "The City of Canton," and several other interesting addresses were delivered.
The oratorical feature of the evening, however, was the speech by Gen. Asa Jones of Youngstown.

The best thing of the evening was the singing of Thomas Filmer, of Rochester, N. Y.
He kept the crowd in a happy frame of mind and was up for three efforts. The program of music and speech-making was as follows:

THE END.

As George H. Foster, of Cleveland, drew his speech to a close he dwelt upon the credit due to Montgomery lodge for their magnificent efforts at entertaining the grand lodge and finally moved that a vote of thanks be extended to the lodge and committee. The motion was seconded and the whole assembly arose and burst forth spontaneously in a chorus, "And They are All Jolly Good Fellows," to the tune of "My Father and Mother Were Irish." They sang it with a will and then a formal vote of thanks was given and made to extend to the hotel waiters girls and everybody else who had assisted in making the stay of the visitors here pleasant.

Brother Filmer was called out for another song and after a few words by the toast master the guests were bidden a right hearty old English good-bye. The closing ode was sung and then as the guests began to move toward the door one struck up the tune "America."

In a second all stopped and joined in. It was a sort of go-as-you-please song, as half of those present were singing the words of "America" and the other half "God Save the Queen."

The tune was all the same, however, and they sang it through with a vim that made the hall ring. And so the convention and banquet ended.

CALL OFF THAT GAME WARDEN.
The case of Ohio against William Yoder, Link Andrews, Charles Gregory and Frank Clark for illegally catching fish, was heard before a jury in Justice Paul's court in Massillon yesterday. The jury after being out half an hour returned a verdict of not guilty. Allen Carnes, Harry Weber and Robert Day appeared for the defendants and McMillen and Deck for the state.

The Canton attorneys had Mrs. Norwood, court stenographer, over and intended, if they could, to carry the case up on error.

The costs will amount to about $100 and the state will have them to pay.

the Penitentiary News says he is a model terested themselves in his case and application will be made to the board of pardons in the near future for his release. Owing to his excellent record it is thought by his friends that his chances are good for liberty.

JACK DURHAM
Claims John Wilson Hit Him With a Hatchet, and Wilson Says It Was His Fist.

Jack Durham got into trouble at John Wilson's East Tuscarawas street saloon early this morning. Durham came to police headquarters, and claimed that Wilson had hit him in the head with a hatchet. He said the trouble started over a dice game. Durham was under the influence of liquor, and he was refused a warrant on a charge of assault with intent to kill. He declined to sign an affidavit for assault and battery.

Wilson when seen denied striking Durham with a hatchet. He said Durham called him many vile names, and he struck him with his fist. In falling Durham hit his head against the stone, and Wilson said he then grabbed the hatchet to frighten Durham and get him to leave the saloon. Jack took to his heels when he saw the hatchet. No arrests have been made.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP

Is Thoroughly Discussed by Rev.
Mr. Rishel—Good Speeches at the Meeting Friday—Resolutions Adopted—A County Religious Paper Wanted—Louisville Gets the Next Convention.

The Friday afternoon session of the Christian Endeavor convention was called to order by President Leighton, promptly at 2 p. m. After the election of officers, which was published yesterday, Rev. J.
A. Sites, of Navarre; Miss Landrock, of Canal Fulton; and Mr. Chenot, of Louisville, were appointed a committee on resolutions. The committee on next place of meeting was constituted by the appointment of A. J. Stone, Frank A. Hanna, Rev. W. F. Rinker, David Evan, and Secretary F. M. Cori.

The literary portion of the meeting was then opened by a splendid address on "Stark County Citizenship," by Rev. E.
W. Rishel, of Canton. This address sparkled with good things. The speaker contended that the broadest humanity is to be expected of the Christian citizen, and that no matter to what organization he belongs, the Christian citizen still has
